

A Sudden Thunder Shower Sunday May 27, 2018

These usually last about 20 minutes and then all is well. It happened yesterday about this same time (3:45pm) and after 20 minutes all was well.

I took refuge in this Kiosk.

However, the river started rising
and the Kiosk was flooding!

A small lazy creek was all of a sudden a raging river!

It quickly flooded the road and the route to where my car was parked in the parking lot.

A Ranger told me to get to my car as I was not safe in the Kiosk

I ran across the pedestrian bridge with water lapping over the top of the bridge and had to wade through knee-high water to get to the car in the parking lot.

I Made it to the Car!

- When I opened the car door, water flooded into the driver's side of the car.
- I jumped in and closed the door.
- The car started right up – RELIEF!
- I was able to back the car out of the water and up the hill to safety.

The Road Out Was Completely Blocked

- I waited 30 minutes in the parking lot
- It was getting worse, not better!

The Water was Flowing Into the Lake

- The lake was filling fast
- I was concerned the lake would overflow into the parking lot.

I Needed To Get to the Other Side of the Stream

- I knew there was a trail around the back of the lake
- I thought it was high enough to be dry
- I started on the trail but soon found it too was flooded

- Go Back to the car or wade to the pedestrian bridge
- I decided to wade to the bridge!

I Had to Make a Decision!

I Made it to the Bridge and Crossed the Stream!

- A Ranger picked me up on the other side.
- The Ranger took me to the Park Entrance.
- Eunyoung met me at the park entrance.
- We made our 6:30pm massage appointment on time!

I Went Back to the Car the Next Day

- Patapsco Park was completely closed with rangers blocking every entrance.
- I got permission from Ranger Montoya to walk to my car and retrieve personal items.
- The car is trapped in the parking lot with no way out.

The Exit Road from the Parking Lot is Washed Out

The Lake Was Flooded

Fortunately, the Car is Fine –
Just Can't Get It Out!
